

CRAFT PALACE

Malika Shrestha created Craft Palace in 1997 after participating to a 3 months sewing training. This housewife was very creative and dynamic, and her favorite quote as always been: "Skill and creative mind can change the whole life". Craft Palace is all about offering opportunities to women and to develop skills of local manpower. She employs 10 persons and contributes to the development of Nepal's economy.

Craft Palace participated to national and international exhibition such as India, Pakistan, USA, China, France and Australia. Malika exports her products and has a strong Nepali market. Her products are typical Nepalese hand made with materials of cotton, heavy cotton, Dhaka , raw silk and natural fibers such as alo (sisnu) and hemp.
